

5.

The radius of a circle is changing, subject to time, such that,

$$\frac{dr}{dt} = \frac{1}{3r^2}$$

Show that the rate at which the area of the circle changes can be written as

$$\sqrt{\frac{a\pi^3}{bA}}$$

where a and b are integer constants to be determined.

You must show your working.